We give you this Tatler
with the hope that you may find some things within its covers which will be a source of interest to you, not only now, but in those years to come, when an occasional remembrance of some friend of your school days, or a reference to a long forgotten event, shall bring about another thumbing of its

Seniors

June comes again, her skies and flowers foretell
Another class must bid West High farewell.
Four busy, happy years fond memories hold;
As Fresh and Soph and then as Juniors bold,
And now as Seniors we cannot forget
The many joys and pleasures we have met;
High aims and deeper purposes for each
Our Alma Mater bade us strive to reach.
Though hard and rough of'times has been the way,
The triumphs won, all trials well repay.
The honor of the school upon our heart
In school activities we've taken part.
The football championship was won this year;
The class of 1913 has no peer.
In years to come though scattered far and wide,
Our love for thee, West High, will still abide.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

The Senior Play

The presentation of Augustine Daly's four act comedy 7-20-8 by the class of 1913, will undoubtedly be long remembered as one of the most successful dramatic productions ever staged by West High Thespians.

The cast, carefully selected with respect to talent, and closely considered as to adaptation to parts, interpreted their lines most cleverly, and worked out the humorous situation of the comedy with unusual success.

Probably no group of beginners ever showed such a marked degree of natural talent as did this cast. From the lightest roles to the heaviest the characters were equally well taken. Russell Thomas, acted the part of the "bold" self confident Courtney Corliss as if it were an incident in his own life. Pauline Shearer as the much sought lady of the picture, could not have been bettered in her playing of that artful, quick witted "piece of girl kind." The part of the good natured, business wrapped young farmer, was well interpreted by Edwin Trapp, as was the part of his discontented young wife which was played by Helen Paine. Waldo Morrison won much applause in the part of Mr. Bargiss, who in copying "Charlie Dickens" methods of finding story material almost broke up his happy home. Persis Weaver played the part of the ambitious and doting wife of this pretentious writer with equal success.

The two character roles that of Tamborine the faithful, excitable Italian searching for the original of the portrait, and that of Professor Gasleigh; friend of the outcast poet and enemy of the publishers ring could not have been better played. The work of Archie MacVicar, as the farmer, clearly outclassed anything West High has yet offered in character work. And Lee Pierce acted the latter, with unquestionable talent. The part of the bright, spunky little maid was prettily taken by Virginia Sullivan. John Hansman as Jobyns made a very successful farm hand and Francis Bewsher was the kindly obliging postman to the life.

Among the new features added to the program was a clever prologue spoken by Don Smith, whistling solo by Hildegard Durfee and a vocal solo by Margaret Burns.

Debating

Debating started this season with about twenty-one candidates but the number soon dwindled to eleven.

From these, six were chosen by preliminaries, and from that number the team which was to contest with Omaha, was selected in the assembly debate of February 14.

The team selected, regardless of the personal rank of each contestant on those teams, were:

FIRST TEAM

VALDA HALL
JOHN BALDRIDGE
CLEMENT DRISCOLL

SECOND TEAM

MIGNON RUBINSON
ISADORE ROBINSON
DONALD SMITH

The coach, attorney J. A. Dyer then gave special attention to the first group and an attempt was made to defeat Omaha in their own city (a feat which West High had never before accomplished). But in the meeting on March 14 our trio was unable to draw the decision from the Nebraska judges.

The debating prospects for next year bid fair to be very bright if all of those interested in that subject will come out, forget to be discouraged and stay out.

Omaha will be at West High next year. Don't let them win in Des Moines for the first time.

Philomathian

THE success of the literary activities of West High during the past year has been more than anticipated. The past season closed with more active members enrolled than ever before in the history of Philo.

The importance of literary work cannot be emphasized too strongly. The students should take Philo, debating and kindred activities more seriously, for literary prowess, once acquired cannot be lost unless the mind cease to be active, but other forms of accomplishment can easily be lost in a few years.

It is gratifying to notice that Philo is the important institution of West High. Every student at West High that DOES THINGS is a member of Philo. The work carries with it a valuable training along educational lines, as well as acquainting the members with methods of parliamentary procedure.

The dramatic programs give those interested an opportunity to develop any talent they may have along that line, while the annual debate with Omaha and other schools offers a splendid opportunity for all ambitious Demosthenes' we may have.

JUNIOR TEAM—CLASS CHAMPIONS

More interest was shown in basketball this season than ever before. This game is usually considered a good thing for winter training. This year every class had a good team and supported it loyally to the last.

The Juniors had an exceptionally good team and won every game by a wide margin. This team had no stars which could be pitched out, because each man played his position so well.

The Seniors came second, losing their games with the champions. Although the last year men had some individual players they had lacked the balance and team work which comes from experience.

The Sophomores and Freshmen had a battle royal for third place. The second year men were pushed hard by the unusual aggressiveness of the Freshmen but held their third place.

This left the class standings as follows: Juniors, Seniors, Sophomores, Freshmen.

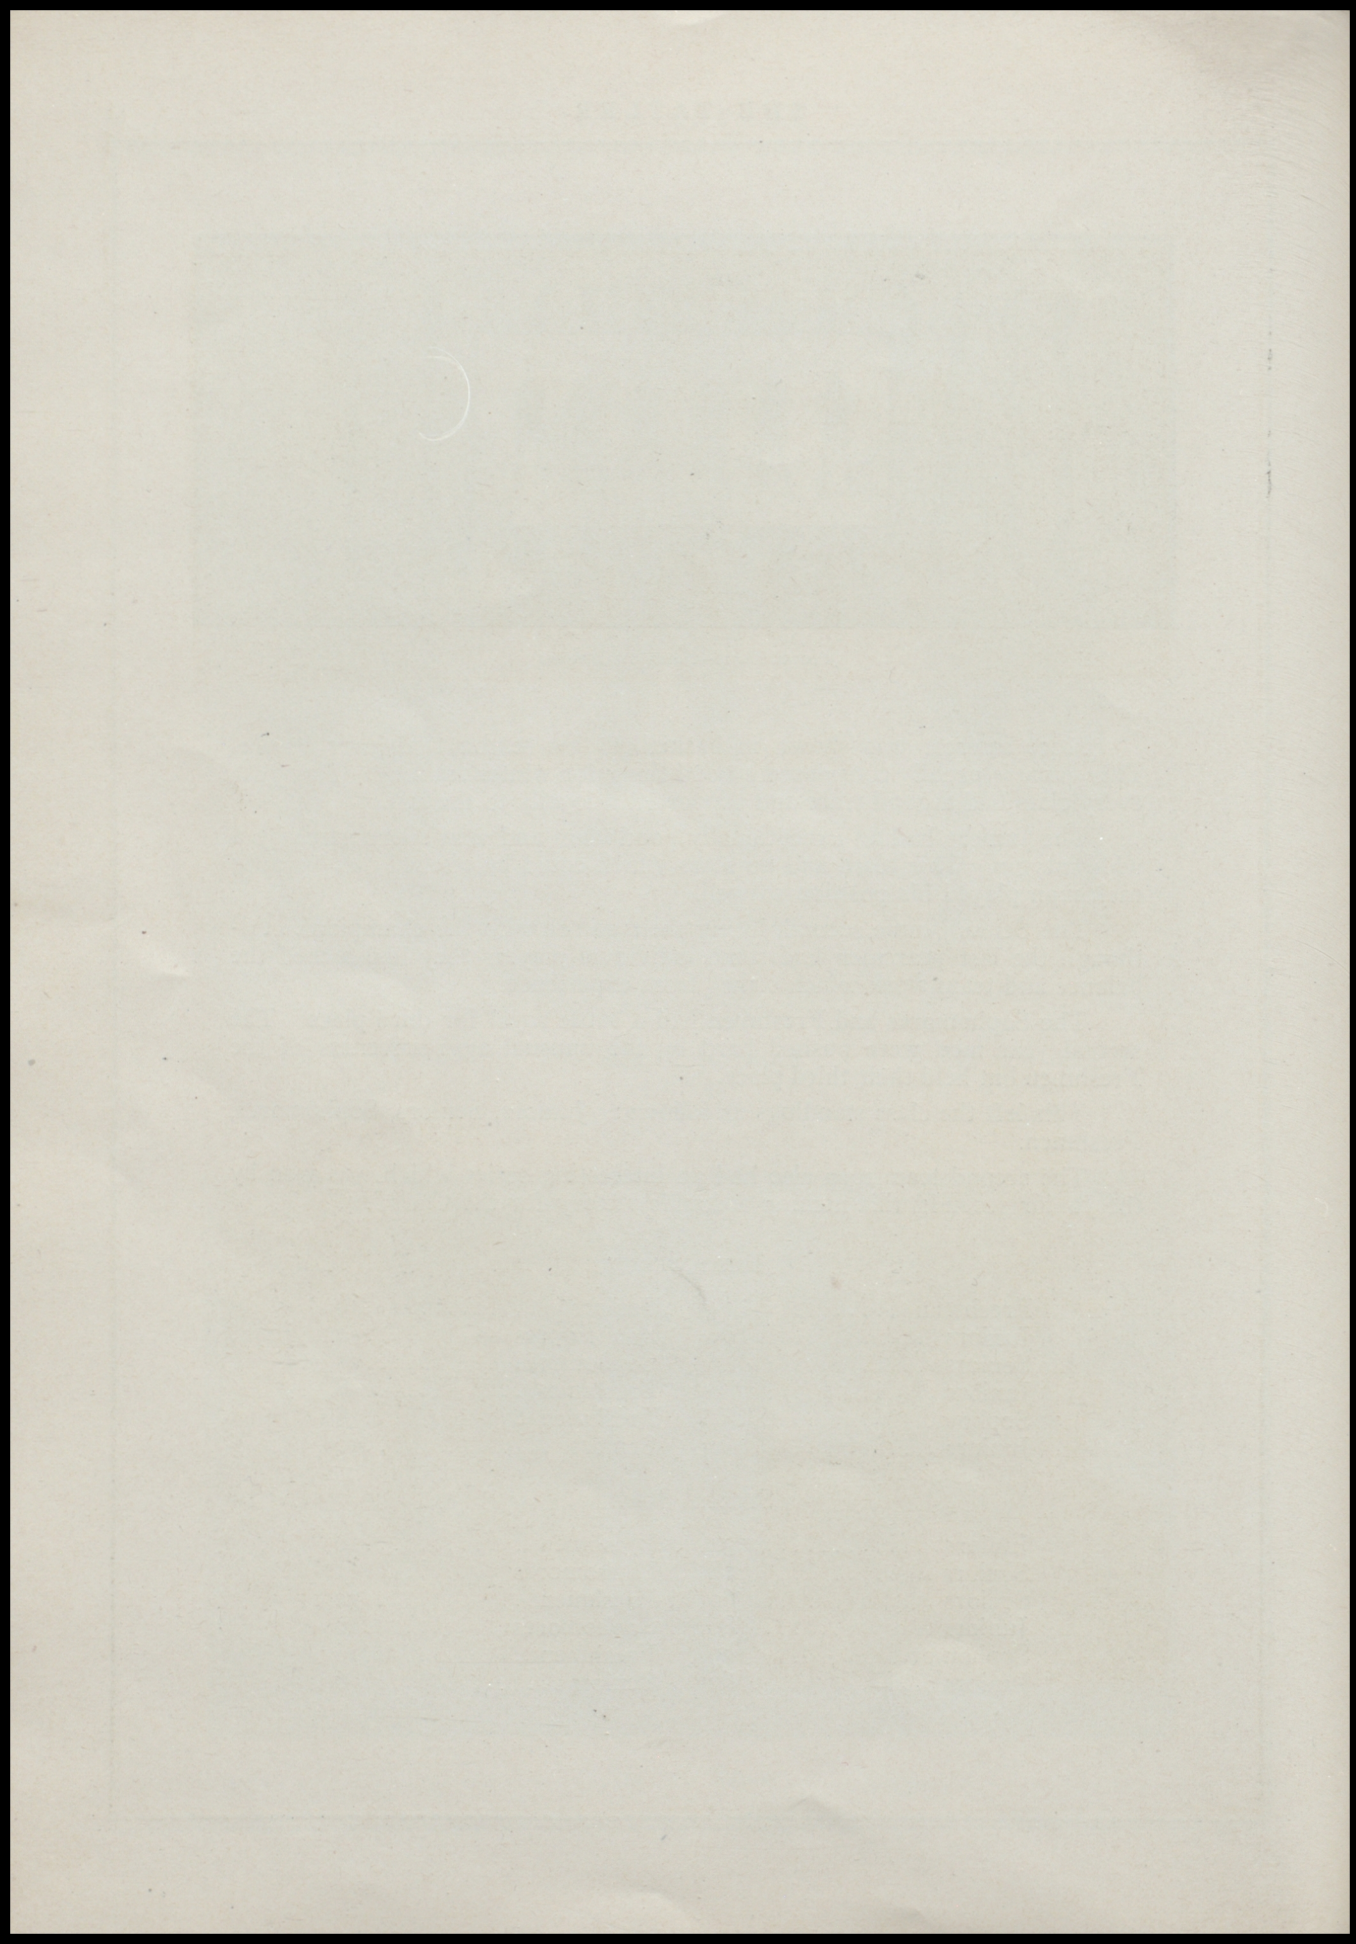

The second team men also had an interesting series which was won by the Junior seconds, this making a double victory for the Class '14.

West High Wins State Meet

The State Meet of May twenty-fourth marked the close of the most successful track season West High has ever had. With a decisive victory over the best teams in the state, in the fastest meet yet held, West High proved herself again the Champion of Iowa.

A comparison of the records of this year's team with those of former teams still further demonstrates its superiority. Could a team be made up composed of the best men which West High has produced in the last ten years it would contain such stars as Harris, McMartin Walker and Macomber of 1906. Hammitt, Trostle, Bair and Wagner of 1908. Reed, Redfern and Harper of 1910. McHenry, McBain and Watson of 1911. But in a dual meet against this all star West High team the team of 1913 would be able to win seven of the fourteen events on the program. In every track event except the hurdles the members of this team have surpassed the best records ever made in a state meet by a West High runner.

Nor would this team suffer in a comparison with the best team that could be picked from all the athletes in the state during the last ten years. The record holders in the State Association, excluding present members of the West High Team, would include Hoyt, Greenfield; Redfern, Harris, McBain and the 1906 Half Mile Relay Team, West Des Moines; Dubel, Sioux City; Dutton, Anamosa; Alderman, Monroe; Shrader, Iowa City; Metcalf, East Des Moines, and the Cedar Rapids Mile Relay Team of 1910. Against such a picked team of the best athletes in the schools of the whole state in the last ten years the present West High team could win the quarter mile, the half mile, the mile and both relays. The score of such a meet counting first places only would give West High 1913 twenty-five points against fifteen for our nearest competitor, Greenfield, and seven and a half for Iowa City in third place.

West High cannot be too proud of a team that could take such a rank against the best that our own school or all other schools of the state have produced. Nor can we honor too highly the boys and the coaches who made such a result possible.

The matter of ready cash need not bother you, because we will sell you what you want and you can pay for it in easy installments to suit your convenience. A Tribute to Poe

How troublesome and painful are thy corns,
Torturing corns!
What a pinching potency their sufferer bemourns!
Throb in piercing lancination
All one's toes in boot or shoe,
While the burning laceration
And the cruel cruciation
Daily doth itself renew!
Save this sorrow, sorrow, sorrow,
Just bring in a dime tomorrow;
Your gibbons epidermous Our Combination scorns,
For your corns, corns, corns, corns, corns, corns, corns,
Are all removed by Yankem's Acid Treatment.

Do o You Want a Position

¶ Suppose you were to go down town this afternoon to apply for a position, what would you expect to secure?

¶ Have you learned a trade? Do you know how to conduct some line of business? Can you sell goods—not take orders? Can you write shorthand? Can you operate the typewriter? Can you keep books? Do you know how to bill?

Well, what can you do?

¶ Business men are looking for young people who are trained to do some one thing well. Keep this fact in mind and make your preparation as soon as possible—this summer for instance.

- ☞ Think of the prizes waiting at the Nation's best shows for you! Think of the loving cups and ribbons that go with every prize!
- ☞ Buff Cochins are little beauties in every sense of the term and will be a credit to your lawn. They are quiet, peaceful, and readily adjust themselves to any environment.
